An open Letter to High School Coaches:

I am writing today with high regards about Coach Malecki and his Icemen basketball program. It is with great honor that I have been able to have dealings with Coach Malecki on a business and personal level. He handles his team with dignity, integrity, passion, and commitment. Coach has always been fair and honest with his evaluations of his kids, and he has an understanding what is in their best interest. What I like most about Coach is that he wants to get his kids to the right level. It's not all about Division-I but it's the fit in which he believes the kids can go and make a contribution. I feel as though his desire and work ethic for the kids has been for unselfish purpose. What I mean is that he is determined to help young men succeed without strings attached. He has given his time and education to advance kids needs in youth basketball. It is with much pleasure that I endorse Coach Malecki and his basketball teaching abilities, as he is in it for all good reasons.

Regards,

Tim Cook
